The actions and timing of AOL are so blatantly frivolous and miserly, that the case should be thrown out before it can start. When they merged with Time Warner, they became a formidable monopoly themselves. Now they are taking a "shot" at a company already embroiled in legal issues.

Please do the public a service by throwing AOL's case out before spending millions in taxpayers money. Let the settlement talks with Microsoft go on and get this matter resolved.

Sincerely,
Bonnie and John Dion
